Dear Arro Smith:

We are pleased to inform you that you were nominated for the 2004-2005 Texas Exes Teaching Award for the School of Information. The Texas Exes Teaching Award is awarded annually to professors, teaching assistants, and assistant instructors who have a significant impact on their students. The award is unique because students nominate and select award recipients.

This year, selecting the award recipient proved to be a difficult task based on the caliber of the nominations. We spent much time discussing each nomination, and were impressed by the number of truly exceptional teachers we have within our school.

Although we could not offer you the award this year, we are grateful for your dedication to the students within the School of Information and feel it is worthy of recognition. Since the Texas Exes Teaching Award is an entirely student based award, we believe that your nomination is quite an accomplishment and speaks wonders as to the impact you have on our students.

Congratulations on your nomination for this prestigious award. The school would be at a great loss without teaching assistants like you.

On behalf of the 2004-2005 Selection Committee,

Very impressive for a first-time instructor. He should be welcomed back. This class offered real world experience & not more esoteric theory.
